

Arsenal Capital Partners Names John Dupuy Operating Director Leading Transportation Executive To Provide Operating Management Expertise

NEW YORK, August 17, 2007 – Arsenal Capital Partners, a leading New York-based private equity firm that invests in middle-market healthcare and specialty industrial product and services companies, today announced that it has named John M. Dupuy, a leading executive in the transportation and logistics sector, as an Operating Director. He joins Arsenal’s other diverse and talented operating executives who help to support the firm in its sector-focused investment strategies.

“We are pleased that we continue to attract superior management talent to our firm. We look forward to benefiting from John’s expertise and extensive relationships in the transportation and logistics arena where he helped to run large organizations both in the U.S. and around the world,” said Terrence Mullen, Managing Director of Arsenal. “John will assist us in both sourcing transactions and providing management teams with operational support.”

Prior to joining Arsenal, Mr. Dupuy served for the past six years in various senior executive positions with SIRVA, a publicly traded relocation, moving and logistics company with sales of $3.7 billion. During his tenure at SIRVA, Mr. Dupuy ran the company’s domestic and international moving and logistics businesses. As President of Moving Services and Specialized Transportation North America, he was responsible for the iconic Allied Van Lines and North American Van Lines brands, as well as North American Logistics. Prior to joining SIRVA he held senior management positions with Maytag and was also a Principal at A.T. Kearney and Booz, Allen & Hamilton. He began his career at Litton Industries in 1979.

Mr. Dupuy received his MBA from Southern Methodist University and his Bachelor of Industrial Engineering from the Georgia Institute of Technology.
